Regulation amendments – Strata Schemes Management Regulation 2016

This document outlines the proposed changes to Part 8 of the Strata Schemes Management Regulation 2016 (the Regulation). A copy of the draft amendment Regulation has not been provided in this package of materials.

Please note: The information provided below is correct at the time of writing. However, minor adjustments may be required as a result of the drafting process to finalise the amendment Regulation. Once complete, further consultation will be undertaken and a copy of the draft amendment Regulation will be provided to all stakeholders and made available on the Fair Trading website.

The proposed amendment also removes the timing	contractsas at the date of issue of the occupation certificate " This leaves open the possibility that the total of the building bond may be reduced where a portion of a contract price is not payable to the builder until after an occupation certificate is applied for.
		reference to the 'date of issue of the occupation certificate' and deletes the note that appears at the end of Clause 50(1).	Given that the contract price is the basis on which the building bond is calculated, it is appropriate that the contract price is reflective of the full value of the building work and not just those amounts that have been paid at the time the bond is lodged. Accordingly, it is appropriate that the definition of contract price be amended to not only include contracts paid for, but also those which are 'payable' at the time the occupation certificate is applied for.

It is proposed that the Regulation be amended to prescribe that a developer may apply to the Tribunal for a determination of the contract price where the determination of the contract price has been taken out of the hands of the developer, for example, by the subsequent use of a quantity surveyor's report. Note that the right of the Secretary and the owners corporation to apply to the Tribunal for a determination is not affected by the proposed amendment to section 211 of the Act. However, in circumstances where the determination of the contract price has been taken out of the hands of the developer, it is appropriate that the developer should have this access to the Tribunal, and the Regulation will be amended to reflect this position. This will be further explored during consultation on the draft amendment Regulation.

5	Clause 214(a1) of the Bill Clause 45 of the Regulation	 Professional associations will be able to impose conditions on members of a strata inspector panel. While the current legislation includes strict probity requirements for building inspectors, it does not include any qualification requirements for them, other than that they are members of one of the prescribed professional associations. It is proposed that the Regulation be amended to allow professional associations to impose conditions on building inspectors. Under this change, an authorised professional association may, having regard to the competency of a member to carry out functions as a building inspector, impose conditions on the member limiting the circumstances in which they may carry out functions as a building inspector under the new Regulation making power proposed by clause 214(a1) of the Bill (see proposal #14 in the Act amendments table). 	Developers will select building inspectors from strata inspector panels established by the authorised professional associations which are listed in the Regulations. It is important that the associations be able to impose conditions on the persons they appoint to the panel, to ensure their qualifications are appropriate for the work to be undertaken. For example, conditions may be imposed on the inspector relating to the kind of building work that the inspector may inspect and report on without having to engage a specialist to assist them.

		A person appointed for the purposes of the Act as a building inspector must comply with any conditions imposed on the person, and a maximum penalty will apply for any breach of this provision.
6	Clause 214(a1) of the Bill Clause 45 of the Regulation	Professional associations will be required to maintain a register of details of members of a strata inspector panel There is currently no requirement that an authorised association keep a register of inspectors appointed to an inspection panel.	It is important that in the event of a dispute the identity of an inspector and any conditions imposed on them are able to be readily ascertained. Registers will not be public registers but will be able to be accessed by Fair Trading.
		The Regulation will be amended to require authorised professional associations to keep a register of members of a strata inspector panel that contains the name and other relevant information of each member, including any conditions imposed on a member. This amendment is made under the new Regulation making power proposed by clause 214(a1) of the Bill (see proposal #14 in the Act amendments table).
7	Clause 214(a1) of the Bill Clause 45 of the Regulation	 The Secretary may issue guidelines to professional associations As noted above, there are currently no qualification requirements imposed on building inspectors, other than that they are members of one of the prescribed professional associations. Accordingly, the Regulation will be amended to require 	This amendment will allow the Secretary to address the qualifications and experience of building inspectors and ensure consistency in the appointment and conduct of building inspectors. These guidelines will outline minimum requirements for all strata inspector panels, including standards and requirements for building inspectors selected and appointed to a panel and how building inspectors are to perform their

		This amendment is made under the new Regulation making power proposed by clause 214(a1) of the Bill (see proposal #14 in the Act amendments table).	Fair Trading published the Strata Inspector Panel Guidelines on its website for comment in November 2017. The Guidelines are being reviewed prior to their finalisation and all comments received will be considered as part of this process.

Currently, the Secretary is required to bear the costs involved in this process and there is no ability to charge a fee to the developer. The Regulation will be amended to require payment of a fee (currently proposed at $1,500) where the Secretary is required to arrange the appointment of a building inspector. Section 204(2) provides a Regulation making power to be able to impose this fee.	conducted. If these responsibilities are ignored, delays then occur. To address this issue, the Secretary can then appoint a building inspector and ensure the inspections are conducted as required. It is appropriate that the Secretary be able to charge a developer for having to attend to these requirements.
